ICOMOS Denmark is a network of active researchers and professionals whose main focus is to protect Denmark's physical heritage and place it in an international world heritage perspective. Besides their national commitment, the members of the Danish committee seek to participate in ICOMOS' international's network and the development work of international scientific committees.

ICOMOS DK currently has 60 members, in part personal members and in part members employed by cultural and heritage-related institutions. The members of the committee make their expertise available through national and international projects and events aimed at protecting and developing further significant cultural manifestations.

There is a particular focus on qualifying subjects for the UNESCO nomination for the World Heritage List, and on qualifying the Danish tentative list.

ICOMOS DK also focuses on monitoring management of sites and activities in the vicinity of existing Danish World Heritage Sites.

In 2017 ICOMOS Denmark has been organizing a Nordic conference that will take place on the 4th -5th of May 2018 as part of the European Year of Cultural Heritage 2018. The conference will take place in the world heritage town of Christiansfeld. The theme is: When intangible values are visible in tangible World Heritage sites. The conference will include an excursion to Ribe, one of the best preserved provincial towns in Denmark, alongside a visit to the Wadden Sea and Vesterende Ballum.

The board has in 2017 made an action plan for building a group of Emerging Professionals in Denmark, which will be implemented in 2018.

In 2017 ICOMOS DK attended the GA in Delhi with 4 participants, Kjeld Borch Vesth, Jørgen Frandsen, Flemming Aalund and Camilla Løntoft Nybye.

Camilla Løntoft Nybye participated in the President-meeting in Florence on the 13th-15th October 2017.

Board member Niels Møllgaard attended the ICOMOS conference in Prague on historic gardens, Jens Brendstrup an ICOFort seminar in Norway, Søren Vadstrup attended "Assivissuit – Nipisat. Inuit Hunting Ground between Ice and Sea" and Ole Drachmann & Søren Vadstrup attended Blue Shields Heritage Fridays 2017.

The organisation of ICOMOS Denmark has been at the topic for the past couple of years. We have been in a process of changing the conditions and framework of managing and running The National Committee to increase the level of activity, nationally as well as internationally. ICOMOS Denmark gained our own bankaccount in 2017 and we made an official application to the cultural governmental authority in Denmark in the hope of developing closer cooperation and financial support. Unfortunately, this application was declined on 6th of July 2017. Our financial situation will be an ongoing debate in the next years.

These are a few of the topics that are debated in Denmark in these years:
- "Sustainability" is a word that is very much in focus in the construction industry and in society in general. But the word is often misinterpreted and creates a distorted picture of what "sustainable" architecture is. It is important to create focus on redefining the concept, so that good details, sound materials and quality in the design are equal to "sustainable architecture". Otherwise the core values of our cultural heritage will disappear.
 - Climate changes are a challenge that is a natural area of focus, when living in a country surrounded by water like Denmark. Preserving nature and the characteristic of the shorelines and preserving the cultural built heritage along is a challenge that is being debated.
 - Creating focus on the importance of prioritizing culture and cultural heritage is an ongoing theme for professionals working with cultural heritage and cultural projects in general. In general we experience budget cuts in the area of culture and especially when it comes to buildings with a function that doesn't create an income for the building owner or with an "unfunctional" function, eg. ruins. Also cultural institutions in general physically located in historical buildings experience large budget cuts, eg. museums, theatres, libraries etc.
 - Political opinions as to heritage matters is an ongoing debate in Denmark. We have been facing political bills to favor specific type of buildings and to allow demolition of listed buildings (modern movement buildings).
